Dear Valued Customer

Our colour numbers are generally the same throughout different ranges (eg. Black 01, Red 13, White 23 etc). Due to photographic and printing limitations some colours may not be accurately presented in the following pages. Refer to page "Index 11" for Colour Description.

Where a colour is not easily identifiable, it is suggested that you reference other designs to view the same colour number where the tones of the colours are closer to actual(eg. Pullskein DK, Alexis, etc).

This printed catalogue is designed to be an easier reference for you. Should you have any comment or suggestion please do not hesitate to contact us on 012 666 9645 / 082 416 4060

Yarn Thickness Guideline / Internet Patterns

Yarn Weight is the standardised thickness of knitting/crochet yarn ranging from Lace to Super Bulky, refer to columns 1, 2, 3 and 11 below. Columns 4 to 7 provides yarn names/descriptions common to various countries - useful for internet patterns.

Column 8 shows the typical usage of different yarn weights.

When substituting yarn, the needle size or yarn description on the pattern/label can be referenced to columns 3 to 7 to find a suitable alternative;

Example 1 : a UK pattern/label suggests a 4mm needle - from columns 3 & 4 we understand that in South Africa a DK(Double Knit) yarn will be a suitable substitute.

Example 2 : an Australian pattern/label suggests using a 12 ply yarn - from columns 7 & 4 we understand that in South Africa a Chunky yarn will be a suitable substitute.

Yarns without label : How to determine yarn thickness ? Wrap the yarn around a large knitting needle(8mm or larger suggested) so that the wraps cover about 2 inches - the wrapping should not be tight, nor loose and without gaps. Use a ruler to measure across the wraps - the number of wraps counted across one inch is the Wraps per Inch(wpi).

Example : if you have counted 14 wraps across one inch then your yarn thickness is 14wpi - refer to columns 12 & 3 - suggested needle size for your yarn is 2.25 to 3.25mm.

Always do a tension/gauge swatch to confirm your measurements. Purchase sufficient yarn of the same dyelot to complete your project.

Useful Conversions : (1) yards x 0.9144 = metres (2) metres + 0.9144 = yards (3) inch x 25.4 = mm (4) mm + 25.4 = inch (5) ounce x 28.35 = grams (6) grams + 28.35 = ounce

Hand Sewing Needle - Guideline ... Page 1 of 2

General : Choose a needle size that is small enough to stitch through the fabric without tearing, breaking or stretching the threads of the material. The eye size should be comfortably larger than the thread being used.

Hand Sewing Needles : as Needle Size increases, the Needle Thickness and Length decreases.

Needle Type	Needle Description	Application	Common Sizes
Ball-Point	Rounded point	Used for knitted fabrics. The round point goes between the yarns instead of through them	5 to 10
Beading	Thin and Long	Used for sewing with beads and sequins	10 to 15
Between / Quilting	Shorter needle with small, rounded eye	Used for quilting, stitching. The shorter length allows for quick and accurate working	10 to 12
Bodkins	Large needle with elongated eye and rounded ends	Used for threading elastics, ribbons, tapes etc.	various
Chenille	Thick needle with sharp point, large elongated eye	Used for ribbon or heavy embroidery. The elongated eye accommodates for several strands of thread or floss. The sharp end allows for easy penetration through heavier fabrics	18 to 24
Tapestry	Similar to Chenille but with blunt point	Used for needlepoint, embroidery and decorative stitching on loosely woven fabrics	16 to 26
Darners (Cotton)	Long needle, sharp point, long eye	Used for darning(mending holes) in fabrics	1 to 9
Darners (Long)	Similar to Cotton Darners but longer	Used for mending larger holes	5 to 9
Darners (Yarn)	Similar to Cotton Darners but larger	Used for darning with heavier yarn	14 to 18

Hand Sewing Needle - Guideline ... Page 2 of 2

General : Choose a needle size that is small enough to stitch through the fabric without tearing, breaking or stretching the threads of the material. The eye size should be comfortably larger than the thread being used.

Hand Sewing Needles : as Needle Size increases, the Needle Thickness and Length decreases.

Needle Type	Needle Description	Application	Common Sizes
Doll / Mattress	Extra long needles	Used for working with items of large depth eg. Dolls, Mattress. Various thicknesses and lengths	150 to 300mm
Self-Threading	Sharp needle with open or slotted top instead of a closed eye	General purpose sharp needle. Threading of the needle is performed by pushing through the open slot at the top of the eye	4 to 10
Sharps	Medium length, round eye, sharp point	General purpose sewing needles for miscellaneous use	1 to 12
Sharps (Carpet)	Similar to Sharps, but larger	Used for working with carpets and rugs	16 to 18
Embroidery / Crewel	Similar to Sharps but with elongated eye	General purpose and fine embroidery with single or multiple strands of floss	1 to 10
Millinery / Straw	Similar to Sharps but longer	Used in making hats, basting, pleating and other decorative stitches	5/0 to 10
Glovers / Leather	Triangular point	Used for working with heavy non-wovens like leather, suede, vinyl, plastic. The triangular point cuts through the material without tearing	3/0 to 10
Sailmakers	Similar to Glovers / Leather needles	Triangular point is longer. Used for sewing heavy leather or canvas	various
Upholstery	Heavy, long, straight or curved needles	Used for sewing thick upholstery fabrics ,tufting and for tying quilts	various

Sewing Machine Needle - Guideline

General : Choose a needle size according to the fabric type as this will pierce through the workpiece without tearing, breaking or stretching the threads of the material.
Sewing Machine Needles : as Needle Size increases, the Needle Thickness increases.

Sewing Thread

RULE OF THUMB : Choose a sewing thread according to the Fabric Weight and Needle Size (see Guideline below). To reduce visibility of the stitching select a shade darker than the fabric.

The threads below are manufactured using high quality synthetic fibres allowing for excellent Stretch, Strength and Smoothness - suitable for Knitted or Woven fabrics including Cotton, Polyester, Nylon and Blended fabrics.
